

Additional Safeguard Programs:

In addition to Isle Return, families with members at risk of wandering are encouraged to enroll in:

- The 9-1-1 Disability Indicator Form

The disability indicator program is voluntary and was created by a group of several different organizations representing the mobility, hearing, speech and sight impaired communities.

Information provided on the disability indicator form enables a special code to appear on the 911 call takers screen which alerts the call taker that a person residing at that address may require special assistance during an emergency.

- SafetyNet

LOJACK SafetyNet/Project Lifesaver relies on proven radio technology and a specially trained search and rescue team. Clients wear a personalized wristband that emits a radio frequency to aid in locating a missing person. National recovery times average less than 30 minutes.

More information on these programs is available on the Isle Return Website: www.islereturnprogram.com

Isle Return Program

Caring for someone who wanders is a considerable responsibility. Nothing could be more frightening than the thought of a loved one with Alzheimer's, Autism, cognitive impairment or other condition becoming lost.

Isle Return Program helps Nantucket's public safety agencies manage the challenge of searching for and rescuing people who may wander. The program is geared toward ensuring a safe return for missing disabled residents and visitors of all ages.

Enrolling a loved one in the Isle Return Program helps caregivers provide an added layer of protection for loved ones with cognitive conditions from the potentially life-threatening behavior of wandering.

Should a wandering event occur:

- Family members or a caregiver call 9-1-1.
- Trained public safety personnel use the information with the Isle Return Program portfolio to assist them in locating your loved one. In addition to local and state law enforcement agencies and emergency medical services, 9-1-1 dispatchers will notify Nantucket Cottage Hospital so their staff can be prepared should the missing person appear at that facility.
- Once public safety personnel locate your loved one, they seek further medical evaluation if necessary, and return him or her home safely.
